

ninety and nine rivers :^a great is thy prowess.

Strength is deposited in thy arms, manifesting thine

GWEL sovereignty.

9. A t]ionsand^a mortals worshipped him₃ together;

twenty^b have hymned (his praise); a hundred (sages)

repeatedly glorify him. So> INDEA, is the oblation

lifted upj manifesting thine own sovereignty.

10. INDRA overcame, by his strength, the strength

of VRHRA: great is his manhood, wherewith, having

slain VEITEAJ he let loose the waters[^] manifesting

his own sovereignty.

[^] [^][^]-^s heaven and ear trembled, thunderer,

at thy wrath? when? attend by the MAEUTS[^] thou

slewest TRITRA by thy prowess, manifesting thine

own sovereignty.

12. VRITEA deterred not IJSTDHA by his trembling,

or his clamour: the many-edged iron thunderbolt

fell upon him₃ (!NDEA) manifesting his own sovereignty.

13. When thou (ImwaA,) didst encounter, with

thy bolt, VEITEA and the thunderbolt (which he hurled); then? IXDRA, the strength of thee, determined to slay A[^]IJ was displayed in the heavens,

manifesting thine own sovereignty.

14. At thy shout, wielder of the thunderbolt, all

^a Put for any Indefinite number.

^b The sixteen priests employed at a sad* ice,
fee. Yajamdna
and Ms wife, and two functionaries entitled the Sadasya and Skmt: "*, directors, probably, of the ceremonies of the assembly.
not of the worship,